Grissom Elementary School's new Space to Grow schoolyard features outdoor classroom areas, vegetable gardens and native trees, a jogging track and more. At one of the community gardening days at Grissom, two women who lived in the community for over 10 years met each other for the first time—a perfect example of how Grissom's Space to Grow schoolyard is bringing the community closer together.

Grissom's schoolyard encourages learning about nature and the environment, which supports Grissom's science curriculum. Each spring, students assist in planting flowers and vegetables in the garden. The space features edible Learning
